A STEWARD FAMILY HOSPITAL

Caring That Lasts a Lifetime

It could have been a small expression of caring. Maybe it was just a moment to reassure a patient. Perhaps it was a minute or two spent listening to someone who really needed to be heard. Possibly it was someone who took the time to be a real team player, someone who was always there for other people day after day. Sometimes it's these moments that people remember forever. It may not have seemed important at the time; it was just something someone did or said, but later you realized what a caring gesture it was.

If you know of a co-worker, staff member or volunteer here at the Hospital that has made that extra commitment, we'd like to know who he or she is. Nominate that person as our Employee of the Month/Volunteer of the Quarter.
